
INTEGRATED MANAGEMENT POLICY

We are a company dedicated to the manufacture of long stainless-steel products.

Our objective is to meet the legitimate expectations of all interested parties, including customers, employees, shareholders, suppliers, and society as a whole.

Our operating model is based on Certified Management Systems covering Quality, Environmental Management, Occupational Health and Safety, and the Prevention of Major Environmental Accidents. These systems are focused on prevention, continuous improvement, and a participative management approach.

We are committed to establishing the necessary procedures, providing adequate human and material resources, and implementing training and competency development programmes in order to:

- Meet customer requirements, as well as all applicable legal, regulatory, and other compliance obligations.
- Protect people by eliminating hazards and reducing risks, within the limits of available technology, and by integrating occupational health and safety into all levels of management.
- Promote employee consultation and participation, through their representatives, on matters relating to occupational health and safety.
- Control and reduce the consumption of raw materials and energy, prevent pollution, and minimize our environmental impact.
- Comply with all applicable legal requirements and the voluntary commitments undertaken by Olarra.

Top Management provides leadership by establishing annual management objectives and communicating them throughout the organization, together with the improvement plans required to achieve them.

Furthermore, the Company will maintain effective communication channels to ensure that all interested parties receive the relevant information they require, in line with our commitment to transparency.

Every employee is responsible for complying with the established rules and procedures and is expected to actively contribute ideas that support the continuous improvement of our management systems.
